Featured Presenters

Ana De Hoyos O'Connor – NIOST

For the past 20 years, Ana has worked in her community, state and around the nation providing training to staff, administrators and parents on topics related to out-of-school time. Ana is a full time instructor at San Antonio College, and has served as a training associate for NIOST for many years. She serves on the City of San Antonio Commission for Children and Families to provide information on quality programming for children. Ana continues to work within her community to provide training and support, and she testifies to school boards, community boards and parents on the need for funding and quality school age programs.

Dishon Mills – NIOST

Since August 2000, Dishon Mills has served as the After School Programs Coordinator for the Boston Public Schools (BPS), and manages the Boston Community Learning Center (BCLC) initiative, in addition to other initiatives and projects. He is also an experienced trainer and has presented many national, statewide, and local workshops. Dishon has almost 10 years experience as a child care and youth worker, and has a B.A. from Harvard University in Sociology and African-American Studies. Dishon continues to work directly with youth through his church's youth ministry.

Cory Lichty

As a speaker who reaches thousands of people each year, Cory Lichty knows how to captivate a crowd. He possesses the unique ability to infuse humor, inspiration, and content into a message that will leave a lasting impact. He does not simply speak to the audience, he connects with them in a way that very few speakers can. Cory graduated from SDSU in 1999, and has ten plus years of classroom experience with children. He has trained in multiple capacities, and currently is a training consultant for Family Resource Network in Brookings. Cory's desire is to inspire his audiences to live their lives with gusto and passion while emphasizing their strengths and talents. He is a once-in-a-lifetime speaker who connects like few do.
